PROGRAMME INTRODUCTION

Pak Mission Society's Urban Slums Development Programme aims to uplift the lives of residents in Pakistan's urban slums, commonly referred to as "Katchi Abadis," by fostering community-led initiatives and promoting equitable access to essential services. Approximately 11.9 million people live in slums across major cities like Karachi, Lahore, Faisalabad, and Islamabad (UNICEF, profiles of underserved areas of 08 largest cities of Pakistan). These informal settlements, primarily inhabited by low-income families and marginalized communities, face challenges such as limited access to education, healthcare, and employment opportunities. Through community activism, service delivery, and enhancing social cohesion, the program seeks to create sustainable, positive change for these underserved populations.
